WILSON IS ASKED TO SEND
TROOPS TO FIGHT FLAMES

PORTLAND, OREGON, July 22.—President Wilson was asked today for federal troops to aid in fighting fires now raging in the forest of Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon. The appeal was sent to George M. Cornwall, editor of The Timberman, who acts for the lumbering interests of the northwest. This is the second time in the past decade that a president of the United States has been appealed to for help in subduing forest fires that have not been controlled by local resources. President Taft was appealed to during his administration, and troops were supplied who co-operated successfully with the forest service.

Following is the telegram sent President Wilson:
"Forest fires in Montana and Idaho are seriously menacing timber in national forests as well as private lands. Inclement dry conditions and severe drought have made it impossible to check the fires. Immediate federal assistance is needed to prevent irreparable loss of timber and property."
